

YOUR VISION SPECIALIST

DR HAMISH MCKEE

MB ChB, FRANZCO

Dr McKee completed his undergraduate medical degree at Otago University, New Zealand. He then underwent specialist training in ophthalmology in Queensland.

After completion of his general ophthalmology training, he embarked on subspecialty training in refractive (laser vision correction) surgery, corneal and cataract surgery at the Manchester Royal Eye Hospital in the United Kingdom. One of his key areas of interest is related to treatment of corneal and anterior segment problems, including partial thickness corneal transplantation and crosslinking for keratoconus. He also has a keen interest in glaucoma and did subspecialty training in this area at the Hong Kong Eye Hospital.

He is still active in research and continues to publish papers in high ranking ophthalmology journals and present his findings at local and international meetings.

Dr McKee is based at LASERSIGHT Maroochydore, where he specialises in refractive surgery, including LASIK, PRK, cataract extraction and insertion of intraocular lenses. He also works at Eye Care Specialists in Maroochydore, consulting in general ophthalmology, corneal disease and glaucoma.
